

College of Traditional Chinese Medicine Practitioners and Acupuncturists of British Columbia

EDUCATION SEMINAR

Registration 8:30 am – 10:00 am

Seminar 10:00 am – 12:00 noon

TOPIC

Governing our Regulatory Bodies

Professional regulation is an ever-changing environment. Government policy changes, public expectations and perceptions, system failures and innovation are all impacting how we regulate and how we govern our regulatory bodies.

This timely session will look at some of the trends and current events that are changing or will likely change the way we regulate in the future, with a focus on how we govern these organizations. You won't want to miss this session!

PRESENTER

Bradley Chisholm, JD, BA, PCC

Bradley Chisholm is a governance and leadership consultant. He has deep experience working with regulatory bodies and professional associations as they try to navigate through change, stay relevant and continue to meet their mandate. Most recently, Bradley has been working with British Columbia's three nursing regulators to support their merger.

Prior to consulting, Bradley served as the chief of staff to Alberta's Attorney General and practiced law at an international firm based in Calgary. He studied law at the University of Calgary, economics at McGill University and received his executive coaching certification from the Hudson Institute of Coaching.
